Under no circumstances leave the lines soaking in water for more than seven days, as it may go stagnant, causing irreparable damage to the python and modules, resulting in tainted beer.

If you can't gain access to the system to flush the lines through every seven days (outlet closure) then the last option would be to leave the system in beer.

When re-opening an outlet

- Carry out a full line clean of the dispense system as normal
- Ensure remote/flash cooler is turned back on for beer dispense
